

VISION STATEMENT

WWII binoculars focus on history with forward-thinking design

Vintage military binoculars connect you to the past while adding unexpected interest to your home or office. Their sleek design also brings a unique sculptural element to your space. These magnificent instruments – made of military grade steel and featuring high-powered optics – are as functional today as they were the day they were constructed.

Our Naval binoculars once lined the decks of classic warships while our field binoculars kept watch in foxholes and trenches. After meticulously restoring exterior components of each pair of binoculars, we then carefully calibrate the lenses and optics to ensure a perfect viewing experience. Not only are these binoculars stunning to look at, they are even more incredible to look through.

These spectacular binoculars bring you closer to the fascinating world around you. Their rare precision optics make sunsets more breathtaking and the sea more inspiring. Today our binoculars can be found in luxury homes around the world and are one of the most sought-after items by designers looking to add a statement piece to their projects.

Come see our selection of these amazing works of art and find the one that completes your vision.